SportsLover Instruction

Welcome to SportsLover!

SportsLover is a website that focus on matching people who want to have sports at sometime with other people. People can be mapped to groups with same sports interest plan, or search for some sports places and events information to schedule a sports plan by themselves for sports fun.

Now let us introduce functions of SportsLover to you.

1. Search Page

1.1 Search with filters

1.1.1   Search

You can search for specific groups with none or all of the specific sports item, start & end date, or expense.

Write or select the specific filter information, and then click search, you can get all the qualified sports group information at "/group/" page

1.1.2   Recent Sports

Get at most 10 most recent sports groups.

1.1.3   Nearby sports place

Get at most 10 most nearby sports places with smallest distance with your current location.

1.1.4   Most popular sports places

Get at most 10 most popular sports places with most visitors have visited before.

1.2   Search with map

1.2.1   Show places with pin

All the places that current are within a group event time would be displayed on the map with a red pin mark. When you click on it, you can see the group event information.
You can also see the group event details and join it when you click on the "group subject" such as "Go football".

1.2.2   Search groups around specific place

In the "Search Box" search bar, you can type into some specific place and use this map to see whether there are now some not out-of-date group events nearby.

2. Group Page

This page shows the group lists for all the conditions.

2.1 Filters
Left bar is for specific sports item filter.
DATE & GROUP SIZE is for specific day period and group size filter.
All the list items can be sorted and searched.

2.2 Create group
You can also "create your own group". If you haven't logged in, the page would redirect automatically into login page to let you log in and automatically return to the current page. After you create your group, it would automatically displays on the group page if the condition is coincident.

2.3 Join Group
You can also click on the specific group topics to see the group detail and decide whether to join or not. Only when current time is before the event start time, and the current group member is not full for the group size, can you join it.

When you click "join", the group owner would receive a notification as the following shows:

And when the group owner accepts your request, you would also receive a new notification of this confirmation. Click "ok" for "have read".

3. Profile Page

In your own profile page, you can see your information and your current in-progress group events, recent created groups, and past group events.

3.1 Manage created groups

You can also click "manage your created groups" to change group size, estimated cost, and event time, before the group events start.
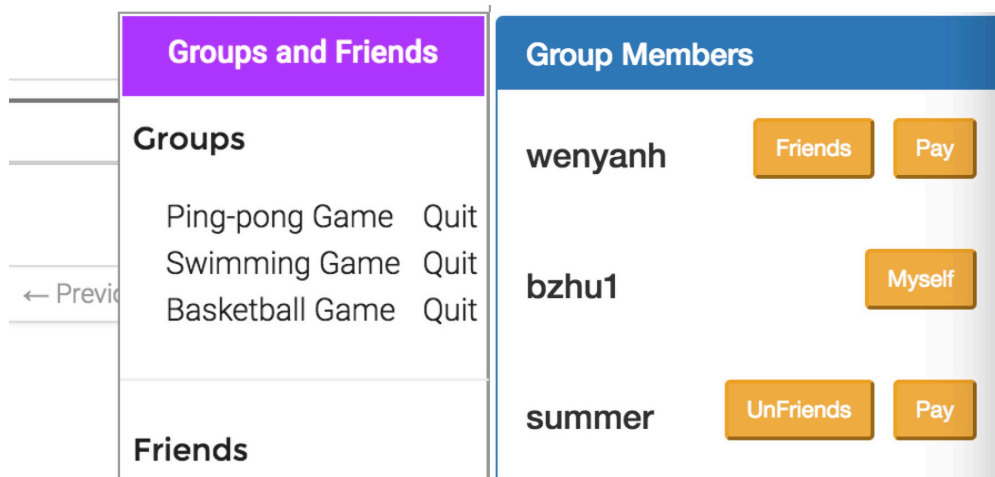

You can also change your information when clicking settings.

3.2 Chats

In the right bottom corner, there is a groups and friends list for all of the groups you have joined and your friends. You can click to chat in the group or with the person.

If you have finished the group event or you don't want to join the event anymore, you can directly quit the group when click the "Quit".

If you are the group owner of the group and you quit the group, then other group members would receive a notification about group dismissing.

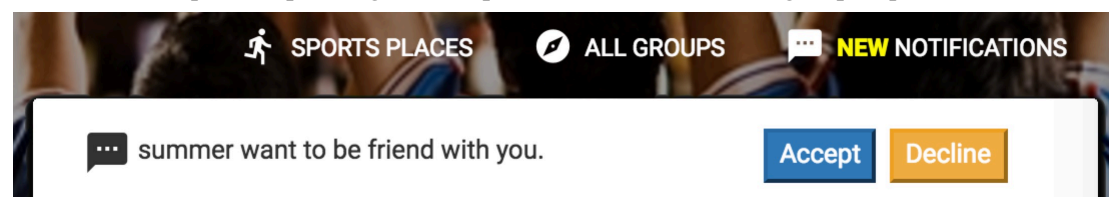

3.3 Be Friends

The groups members list of the group chat room shows the friend relationship between you and other members. If you are shown as status "UnFriends" for another person, you can click on that and send friend request to the person. Then this person would also receive a new notification about sending friend and accept or decline, and you would also get a notification back for the request responding. The steps are similar to send the group request.

3.4 Payment

If in the group you communicate with the venmo accounts for the group events payment for the group owner or some body, then when you click on the "pay", you can pay or charge through venmo for the group cost if you want.

4. Place Page

When you go to the place page, it would show all the places that have created. You can also sort them according to some properties.

When you click on some specific place, it would show the detailed place information such as comments, rank, visited number, photos, etc.

4.1 Place Photos

The left photos can be switched automatically or manually.

4.2 Comments and Ranks

When the group event has ended and the system detects that you are still in the group, then the system would default think you have attended the group event and send you a notification of giving your rank and comments about the group place.

When you click on "ok", you would be redirected into a comment form.
